

Conclave Program Is Announced For June 21-24

Journalism, Poetry, And Juvenile Literature Are Subjects Of The Discussions

The Writers' Conclave program for June 21-24, at Alabama College, with Elizabeth Winston Sheehan of Montgomery, program chairman, gives promise of being one of the best ever presented, according to a discriminating critic at Alabama College, who has attended many sessions of the conclave.

On Wednesday evening, June 21, at 8 o'clock in Palmer Hall, the address of welcome will be given by Dr. A. F. Harman, president of Alabama College. The response to welcome will be by Birmie Daniel Terry, of Birmingham, first vice-president of the conclave. The conclave president's address will be the principal speech and will be made by Dr. Emmett Kilpatrick, of Troy. Following the presentation of officers and pages a reception will be given by Dr. and Mrs. Harman at their home, "Flower Hill."

Journalism Program

On Thursday morning at Calkins Hall, Richard Furman Hudson, Jr., of Montgomery, dean of journalism, will preside over this program devoted to the "Fourth Estate." First on this program will come Grover C. Hall, Jr., who will discuss "Developing News Writing Style," the second speaker on this program, Charles Phillips, of Montgomery, a United Press correspondent, will entertain the group with "Pleasure of Being a Capitol Correspondent." A round-table discussion will be the culmination of this live session on journalism.

The Poetry Matinee scheduled for 4 p.m. Thursday will have the dean of the poetry section, Kathleen Sutton, of Anniston, presiding. This program, one of the best, has been completed. "Toast to the South," by Bert Henderson of Montgomery, will be read by Miss Zannie Booser of Anniston; "The Unwritten Epic," a challenge to Southern poets, will be given by Mrs. Ross Blackmon, of Anniston. Selections of Southern music will be played by Guy Taylor, violinist, with Charlotte Johnson at the piano. Mrs. Lawrence Kuter, of Maxwell Field, will read "Romantic Poetry of the South."

Juvenile Literature

A program featuring juvenile literature has been exceptionally well arranged by Dr. Douglas Olsen, dean of the juvenile section, who will preside over this program scheduled for Saturday at 10 a.m.

Mary Sellers Butler, Selma teacher and writer of juvenile stories, will discuss "What's New in Juvenile Literature." (Continued on back page)

Club Women To Tour County

On Thursday, June 15, the Shelby County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs will sponsor an educational tour for club members and their husbands. The tour will begin at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Alexander near Valley Grove Church and from there the group will visit the poultry demonstration flock of Mr. Walker Anderson in the Dry Valley community. The next point of interest will be Alabama College at Montevallo, where the group plans to spend some time in visiting the college buildings and grounds. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker have invited the group to visit the dairy, which will be one of the outstanding features of the tour.

After leaving the Bakers', two visits will be made in the Ebenezer community at the homes of Mrs. Fred Johnson, who is the county pantry demonstrator, and Mrs. Grady Wyatt, who is carrying out a home improvement project. From Ebenezer the tour will proceed to the state park on Double Oak Mountain where a picnic lunch will be served and a splendid program will be presented by club women and extension workers.

Since this is the first time that such a tour has been planned for Shelby County home demonstration clubs, it is believed that it will be most beneficial in showing the progress that is being made by our Shelby County homemakers and in acquainting our farm people with the splendid resources of Shelby County.

B. P. W. To Conduct Membership Drive

The Montevallo Chapter of the Business and Professional Women's Club is planning a membership drive before the fall activities commence. Mrs. Denson Elliott, membership chairman, is in charge, and the organization's hopes for increased membership are high, as Mrs. Elliott has proved her ability and enthusiasm on behalf of the club since its installation here. Women in Montevallo who are engaged in business or a profession, and who are interested in associating themselves with this group, are invited to inquire about it from any of the club members. It provides stimulating contacts with women throughout the country who are earning their living, and here, particularly, one of the all too rare opportunities for the women of the town to meet both socially and professionally.

Mrs. Fred B. Pearson is visiting her mother, Mrs. Casey, at Sand Mountain this week.

St. George Hotel Is Damaged By Fire

The St. George Hotel was damaged by fire last Friday afternoon, June 2. The fire is reported to have started on the second floor from a faulty refrigerator.

The fire truck and volunteer firemen were on hand immediately after the fire started and soon had it under control. Damage caused by the blaze was not great, as it had not gained headway before the fire-fighters arrived.

Young People Close Annual Assembly

The 1939 assembly of young people of the North Alabama Conference of the Methodist Church ended its week-long session Wednesday after a period of intensive activity. Opening address of the conference was given by Dr. Marvin A. Franklin, pastor of the South Highlands Methodist Church, Birmingham, who made a two-fisted attack on the war-phobia which is gripping the world today. Dr. Franklin stated during his address that there is less democracy in the world today than there has been since 1776.

Among the list of courses which were offered the young people of the state who gathered on the Alabama College campus, was one by Dr. F. K. Gamble, editor of the Alabama Christian Advocate, entitled "The Negro, Our Neighbor." Mrs. E. V. Jones offered a course on "Japan, the Key to the East."

On Friday night the assembly heard Dr. Joseph A. Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Birmingham, speak on the power of Jesus Christ as evidenced from his work as accomplished throughout the history of the civilized world.

The Birmingham Apollo Boys' Choir visited Montevallo Saturday night to perform on the regular evening platform program of the assembly. This group of nationally-known music makers is composed of 24 boys between the ages of nine and thirteen, and is under the direction of Coleman Cooper.

The election of officers who are to head the assembly for the coming year was held Saturday morning with Charles Turner, of Bessemer, being elected president. Marion Gibbs of East Gadsden was elected to fill the office of vice-president, and Miss Anita Oliver of Fairfield was elected secretary. Kelly Ingram was chosen treasurer, and George Hamner of Northport was reelected publicity superintendent.

MISS CURTIS WILL CONDUCT LEADERSHIP SCHOOL

Miss Lavada Curtis, extension foods preservation specialist, from Auburn, will be in Columbiana on Thursday, June 8, to conduct a leadership school on food preservation for home demonstration club women. The school will be held at the Masonic Hall and will begin promptly at 10 a.m. Miss Curtis' two demonstrations will be on canning tomato juice and canning fruit. Mrs. R. J. Mabry, leadership chairman, will preside over the school and reports will be heard from leaders representing fifteen Shelby County home demonstration clubs.

Wide Variety of Courses To Be Offered In Summer School

RALPH E. BOOTHBY

Mr. Boothby will direct progressive education activities of this year's summer school at Alabama College.

Brotherhood Class

Our lesson subject: "A Good Life is Its Own Defense."

The lesson was taught by Mr. R. L. Griffin and was enjoyed by all. We had a large crowd of men and boys present Sunday. Twenty-nine were present in all. The morning's work was taken up after a discussion on whether or not we should hold our own opening exercise in our classroom. It was decided to do that. A committee was appointed to see to getting someone to play the piano for us and to lead the singing. This means we want our class to continue to grow and to do that we want you to come and join in with us. Come and feel free to pull your coats off and hang them on the wall.

We have on our regular roll forty members. Sunday we had present twenty-nine, leaving eleven absent. The ones present were:

R. L. Griffin, teacher; S. J. McGaughy, president; M. C. Jeter, treasurer; J. L. Bridges, J. R. Lewis, B. B. Nix, W. F. Tidwell, C. G. Dobbins, John Nix, Pelham Thomas, Jr., Mack Nix, Clyde Gardner, Jr., John Reid, A. W. Day, M. L. Orr, S. R. Woolley, Herman McGaughy, W. D. Carver, C. B. Blankenship, W. N. Robinson, Dr. J. I. Reid, Joe Wood, F. P. Givhan, W. D. Benton, M. P. Jeter, Dr. W. J. Mitchell, Jack Wood, Hugh Horn. We will meet promptly at 9:45 in the basement of the Baptist Church next Sunday. Be sure to come and be on time. Bring someone with you.

Miss May Lyman Woods is visiting friends in Fort Mill, S. C., this week.

Mrs. Augusta Snodgrass is spending her vacation in Washington, D. C.

Scouts Seek Work To Buy Uniforms

The Scouts of Troop 59 of Montevallo have set aside the month of June as Uniform Month. The troop committee is attempting to find work for those Scouts that can't afford uniforms so that they, too, can get theirs. It is also hoped that some of these boys can go to camp.

This is one of the most worthwhile things that the troop committee has tried yet. Wouldn't our boys look nice if all of them were uniformed? The trip to camp is one experience no boy should have to miss. There they have an excellent chance to pass their tests and learn real Scouting.

The troop committee is asking the citizens of this community to cooperate in this venture by calling either Dr. A. W. Vaughan or Dr. W. D. Jackson, if they have any work that the Scouts could do. No matter how small or how great the amount is, please call one of these two men.

Outstanding Educational Faculty Positions I will Fill Term Beginning Next Monday

A European artist, prominent Alabamians, and outstanding teachers from near and far will be members of the faculty and speakers in the Alabama College Summer School, opening Monday.

Dr. M. L. Orr, head of the department of education in the regular session, will direct the two summer terms, June 12-July 19, and July 20-August 23. Activities in progressive education, initiated at Montevallo four summers ago, will be directed by Ralph E. Boothby, headmaster of the Metairie Park Country Day School, New Orleans, La.

Art Course

Among special features attracting interest is the course in art to be taught by Marya Werten, head of the Polish Division of the International School of Art. Miss Werten, who stresses understanding of art as it functions in daily living, has done most of her work in design and is credited with doing much toward the development of art in home and business. She will teach during the first term, permitting students to register for the entire term or for as short a time as one week.

A course in "Driver Education and Training," designed to acquaint teachers with methods for teaching both classroom and behind-the-wheel phases of high school safety courses, will be taught by Miss Margaret McCall, head of the department of health and physical education. An automobile with basic dual control is being provided by the American Automobile Association, which is conducting this course jointly with Alabama College. Co-operating sponsors are the Alabama Highway Patrol and the Alabama Motorists Association, Alabama division of the A. A. A.

International Cotton Conference Proposed

Auburn, Ala. — An international conference to seek ways and means of improving cotton prices and dividing world markets equitably among all exporting nations will be called by the United States this summer or fall, Secretary of Agriculture H. A. Wallace revealed in an address at Little Rock, Arkansas, on May 26. Responses already received from preliminary inquiries indicate the nations' favor of such a proposal, he said.

Secretary Wallace also endorsed the continuation of loans on cotton to keep the price as high as possible and the export subsidy plan in increase the exports of cotton.

"Whatever may happen in the future," he said, "the export subsidy plan is very much alive today."

The plan is designed to expedite foreign sales of cotton, which have slumped this season to the lowest level in 60 years, and to reduce surplus stocks of about 14,000,000 bales, of which 11,400,000 are stored under government loans to producers. Wallace advanced a five-point program for solution of the perplexing cotton problem.

In addition to the international agreement, the program includes:

1. Continuation of government loans as "a protection for the farmers' price of cotton."
2. Continuation of payments to producers for cooperating with crop control programs.
3. Increased efforts to expand domestic consumption.
4. Enactment of processing taxes to "serve as a continuing source of revenue" for benefit payment to farmers.

Wallace explained that his advocacy of the subsidy proposal contradicted views expressed at Fort Worth, Texas, last fall. "Since that time conditions have changed," he said.

Teachers," taught by Dr. Irwin T. Sanders, will hear talks by authorities in each of the six principal subjects to be considered. Among visiting speakers will be Dr. T. J. Wooster, Jr., chief of the Rural Surveys Section of the WPA, Washington; Dr. John R. Steelman, director of the U. S. Conciliation Service, who was government negotiator in the recent coal controversy; Dr. R. B. Eleazer, secretary of the Conference on Education and Race Relations, Atlanta, and D. A. Soucy, special agent in charge, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Birmingham.

Speakers on the subject, "Alabama's Health System," will include Dr. Douglas L. Cannon, Dr. B. F. Austin, Miss Pearl Barclay, Dr. D. G. Gill, Dr. Holland Thompson, Dr. W. H. Y. Smith, Dr. W. E. Bones, Dr. Boyd P. Edwards, and Miss Certie Reynolds.

In addition to regular courses offered in 12 departments, Dr. Orr announced that a variety of work has been scheduled in connection with the curriculum laboratory, which is designed to aid teachers of the state in the program of curriculum revision.

APPRECIATION EXPRESSED TO FIRE DEPARTMENT

Miss Kate Kroell and Mrs. Mary Creagh wish to express their appreciation to the fire department and other citizens of the town who aided in putting out the hotel fire last Friday afternoon.

It is better for the wives and children of Alabama farmers to have plenty of food in their stomachs than to have plenty of money from the sale of any crop, in the opinion of P. O. Davis, director of the state extension service, in asking farmers to plant a garden.

Governor Frank M. Dixon, in an article appearing in "This Month in Rural Alabama," distributed by 97 weekly newspapers to 107,000 subscribers, says Alabama farmers must adopt a four-point farming program before we succeed in putting agriculture on a sound footing.

In 1939 retail sales were about 82 per cent higher than at the bottom of the depression.

Writers' Conclave

nile." "Safety," in song and dance, and "Its Genesis," by Bess Stout Lambert, will be interpreted by Martha Lambert, of Birmingham. Dr. Olsen declares that progressive education considers literature for children and he has been fortunate to have one of Alabama's most gifted and noted authors, Maude Lindsay, who recently wrote "Posey and the Peddler," presented in a review by Elizabeth Lusk, of Guntersville. Cassie Spencer Payne, of the University of Alabama, will discuss the magazines publishing juvenile literature. Margaret Gillis Figh, of Huntingdon College, will lecture on the historical and foreign elements in the stories of Alice Allison Lide, of Minter. Sarah Seale, of Birmingham, will sing several vocal selections especially adapted to this program. "Narcissus and De Chillun," by Christine Noble Govan, will be reviewed by Ethel Randolph, of the State Teachers College at Jacksonville. An original reading will be given by June Webb Jaynes, of Birmingham, and "Step-Twins," by Rose Bell Knox, of Anniston, will be reviewed by Adele Rivers, of Scottsboro. A distinctive feature of this session will be the news flashes interpreted by Dana DeForest Davis, of the State College at Jacksonville.

During the period 1920 to 1937 the per capita consumption of cotton was 26 pounds; of tobacco, 9 pounds; of wool, 5 pounds; and of flaxseed, 15 pounds.

NOTICE — Rev. Bennie Hubbard, L. G. Ingram, and Walter Buford will be in Calera at 2 o'clock Saturday, June 10, and at Wilton at 4 o'clock, with their loudspeaker.
